ABOUT NAMBITI GAME RESERVE

AFRICA

NAMBITI GAME RESERVE

Established in 2000, Nambiti was forged from a vision to create a Big 5 Game Reserve close to Durban. After 17 years of careful restoration, and the restocking of native flora and fauna, the Reserve is one the country's most exciting conservation initiatives today. With sustainable developments ensuring the livelihood of its local people remains intact, Nambiti has been designated as a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Visitors of Nambiti Private Game Reserve revel in the smouldering beauty of a landscape boasting 22,000 acres of spectacular wildlife. Nambiti is truly a magnificent tapestry of landscapes. From former battlefields to majestic mountains, it is the only game reserve in the area boasting the Big 5, as well as over 40 other species of game including cheetah, giraffe, hippo, hyena, impala, eland and zebra. In addition, over 300 bird species thrive here.

NAMBITI GAME RESERVE – LOCATION

Nambiti Private Game Reserve is located in KwaZulu-Natal Province, near Ladysmith.

The reserve and camp are situated in the Natal Midlands, close to the stunning Drakensberg Mountain Range, a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Conveniently accessible from Johannesburg & Pretoria, a 3.5 – 4-hour journey time and from Durban approximately 2.5 hours.
