Waterberg Horse Trail – History, Horses and Wildlife

Waterberg Horse Trails, based at Waterberg Cottages, has been a beautiful and safe bush destination for self-catering guests for over 30 years.

They are situated in a 3000-hectare game reserve with a large list of wildlife including buffalo, giraffe, zebra, eland, wildebeest, blesbok, ostrich as well as the rare and elusive aardvark.

The reserve forms part of the Waterberg Biosphere Reserve and the vegetation is savanna bushveld.

Waterberg Equine and Wildlife

The Horses

The herd of 16 horses is a lovely mix of all ages. They are free to graze in the open 'veld' (wild fields/bush).

Most of the horses are a South African breed called 'Boerperd', which stand at about 14 – 16 hands in size and are known to be robust and trustworthy.

Because of the remote location all care, maintenance and most veterinary care is done on-site by the team.

The reserve's wildlife is often monitored from horseback as the animals are comfortable with the horses' presence.

The reserve has a good combination of thicker bush, sandy roads and open areas, making for excellent riding terrain.

Community Work

Boschdraai Village which is located on the farm, only a few hundred metres, from the Cottages. The peaceful village consists of around 350 residents, many of whom are unemployed or subsistence farmers growing their own small crops and raising chickens. Some residents have donkeys which they use for transport of people and firewood. Students will join the team in checking on the community members' donkeys and offer input into the donkey's care and well-being. They will treat wounds and give the donkeys food/treats. There are also often pregnant mares who need extra care or attention.

In the community, there are many children who make village visits a delight. Dora from the cottages offers guests a village tour where one gets to visit the young and old and sample some local village food.
