

Basketball Coaching & Playing Project – Accra, Ghana

Project Overview

Basketball is exploding in Ghana and is widely seen as the country's next major sport, driven by unbelievable raw talent and the Ghana Basketball Association's growing development programmes. This placement drops you straight into the heart of the action, giving you access to some of Ghana's most exciting athletes while also letting you choose your own pace and level of involvement. You can work with elite junior development squads and national youth programmes or keep things fun and social and coach the young players in schools and local teams where the focus is energy, teamwork and building real connections. Whether you're running drills, playing alongside your team, organising training sessions and tournaments, or simply creating an environment where players feel confident and inspired, the impact is massive. Supported by GBA coaches and the in-country team, you'll help young athletes level up their game, form lifelong bonds, and experience Ghana's fast-paced basketball culture – all while keeping the emphasis on enjoyment, belonging and the pure love of the game.
