

Cricket Coaching Volunteer Project – Port Elizabeth, South Africa

Project Overview

Cricket in South Africa is everywhere – from world-class stadiums to the dusty streets of Port Elizabeth’s townships, where young players improvise games with raw talent and passion. This volunteer cricket coaching placement lets you turn that passion into opportunity, giving township kids access to structured training, team play, and proper equipment. Whether you’re an experienced coach or a keen cricket player, you’ll run training clinics, organise matches, and plan tournaments that are as fun as they are educational. While the focus is on participation and building friendships, you’ll also have the chance to spot raw talent and nurture the next generation of South African cricketers. The cricket academies we work with are keen to identify the cricket players who will form South Africa’s next generation of test match cricketers. Supported by local staff and fellow volunteers, you’ll develop your own coaching style while leaving a lasting impact on the lives of these young athletes.
