

Football Coaching Volunteer Project – Castries, St Lucia

Project Overview

This Football Coaching Volunteer Project in St Lucia gives you the opportunity to support football development across the island by working with local schools, clubs and youth organisations. You'll assist experienced coaching staff to run training sessions for players of all ages. From grassroots beginners to competitive club teams, you'll be helping children and young adults improve their technical skills, understanding of the game and confidence on the pitch. The Caribbean setting makes this a unique blend of meaningful sport development work and cultural immersion.

Living in Castries & Free Time

Castries is the bustling capital of St Lucia, known for its stunning beaches, tropical climate, and friendly community. In your free time you can explore local attractions such as Rodney Bay, visit rainforests and sulphur springs, enjoy Caribbean cuisine, or relax on sandy beaches. Transport around the island is easy, and in-country staff can help organise additional excursions (not included in the project price).
