

Golf Coaching Volunteer Project – Accra, Ghana

Project Overview

Golf is an increasingly popular sport in Ghana, but with the high membership fees, this limits access to tourists. There is a clear need to develop the untapped talent within young Ghanaians and by completing our golf coaching placement, you will make an important impact to this emerging sport, giving players the chance to reach their full golfing potential. Based at the Accra Golf Club and surrounding schools, you'll introduce children aged 8–16 to golf, and work with the most promising players through intensive academy training – helping them develop their skills in the hope that they have the potential to become professional golfers. As a golf coach, you will have the responsibility of running and supervising all training for the players, creating their coaching programmes, running sessions, and visiting local courses in your free time to practice yourself or deliver clinics. This may sound daunting, but you will soon see that you have an understanding of golf that the young players are desperate to have.
